HELD FOR ARSON

Rabbi Heard an Extraordinary Conversation, He Testifies Before Police Magistrate Tighe in Brooklyn.

EXTREME PENALTY IS 48 YEARS IN PRISON.

Burning Candle and Blazing Rubbish Found Under Mat tress of a-Bed, but Firemen Prevented Serious Blaze.

Samuel Einbinder, forty-five years lo, and his twenty-year-old son, Jolabor. The chief witnesses against weak on report of less business. and Charles Franklyn, rabbi of the synagogue at Fifteenth street and Fifth which the Einbinders attend. Fire Marshal Beer charged that the Det. 8 by biulding a bonfire of rubbish ted candles under the mattress of a bed. Rabbi Franklyn gave evidence a peculiarly damaging character. Says He Saw Signal.

Rabbi Franklyn said that he was holding services in his synagogue on the night of Oct. 8, when Mr. Einbinder and his son came in and sat down. A few minutes later, when the rabbi was praying, Mrs. Einbinder and three of er younger children entered the synarogue and stood near the door. When Mr. Franklyn first noticed them he saw Mrs. Einbinder signal to her husband. A short time after this the services saded and all in the synagogue departed. Rabbi Franklyn said that he passed alose to the Einbinders in leaving the church, and as he walked along the street he overheard a remarkable conversation between Mr. Einbinder and his son. Mr. Franklyn swore that he overheard the following dialogue:

Joseph Einbinder (the son)—Father, I puess it must be up by this time.

Samuel Einbinder (the father)—Josy, did you put kerosene on the mattress?

Joseph—Ne, father, I was afaild some one might come in and find out, but I put a lot of paper and some lighted landles under the mattress.

Samuel—I quess that ought to do it, losy. Mr. Franklyn first noticed them he saw

Then Clanging Fire Bells.

At the conclusion of this dialogue, said Rabbi Franklyn, the clanging of fire engine bells were heard. The Elinbinder party were two and a half blocks from thome and the view of their home was sompletely obstructed by five solid walls of houses. Nevertheless Mrs. Einbinder threw up her bands and shouted: "My God, my house is on fire!" The little Elinbinders took up the cry and then the entire family rushed to the blaze, according to the rabbi's testimony. Fire Marshal Beer then testified that when the firemen reached the house they found a burning candle and a pile of blazing rubbish under a bed. The fire had not an opportunity to spread so as to destroy what the fire marshal characterized as conclusive evidence of preson. Upon this testimony Magistrate Fighe held the two prisoners in $25,000 and each for examination on Saturday.

Amalagamated Copper was one the strongest stocks on the list. It held firm and showed a net gain over last night's price. It was reported that the company had patched up a truce with the Heinse interests and this helped the stock, especially as brokers who buy for the Standard Oil crowd were heavy buyers of the issue. Then the refusal of the officials of the copper company to either affirm or deny the report of the settlement caused many to believe that there might be some truth in it.

Steel issued showed great strength in the face of the report that the earnings for the month weul show a foss of $2,000,000 as compared with the earnings for the earnings for the earnings for the seme month of last year. A Greater Discovery H.O'Neill & Co. than Wireless Women's Coats Telegraphy

We look upon Rexall Mucu-Tone as a greater discovery than wireless telegraphy - greater than any other discovery of which we know.

Wireless telegraphy means easier, quicker, cheaper transmission of commercial, social and journalistic intelligence-means progress along business lines.

Rexall Mucu-Tone means life and health for twelve million American men and women now in the clutches of a most dangerous, most insidious disease-catarrh. Rexall Mucu-Tone is the exact combination of medicinal drugs necessary to effect a prompt, safe, permanent cure of catarrh. It is a triumph of Science - an absolutely new discovery in medicine, -and its importance is realized when the awful effects and widespread existence of catarrh is considered. Catarrh is a disease of the mucous membranes. It may seize upon head and throat, stomach, liver, kidneys, bladder, or with women—the delicate organs of generation. But wherever located, congestion of the muco-cells is the cause. Inflammation is followed by a discharge; the blood is poisoned; the membranes, muscles and bones slowly rot away.

Rexall Mucu-Tone reaches the congested cells through the arteries and veins. It infuses sudden activity, causes a muscular expansion and contraction and thus forces them to expel the poisonous secretions. At once these cells resume their natural functions, inflammation subsides; torn membranes heal; health is restored.

We have investigated thoroughly and we know Rexall Mucu-Tone positively cures catarrh in every form.

So confident are we of this that we invite catarrh sufferers to test it with the distinct understanding that if not cured, the Mucu-Tone they have taken shall cost them nothing. Rexall Mucu - Tone,
